Chandhanee Magu is one of Malé's most prominent commercial streets, and Evince commands its corner. For a brand, it offers presence, credibility, and connection: high visibility,, dual-side access, and the constant daily movement of the city centre at its doorstep.

CUSTOMER POTENTIAL

The outlet draws on four customer streams, active across the whole day:

- Shoppers. Chandhanee Magu and the adjoining Majeedhee Magu form the capital's principal retail spine. Destination shoppers and browsers pass the corner in steady volume from morning until late evening, with weekends and holidays busiest of all.
- Families & students. Four schools within a few minutes' walk generate reliable, predictable peaks at drop-off, pick-up and after-school hours, with accompanying parents in tow.
- Professionals & the building itself. Malé's banks, government offices and corporate tenants surround the site, while Evince's own five floors of offices and four floors of residences — including the penthouse — provide a built-in community above the outlet.

Well-suited concepts: flagship brand store or showroom, specialty retail, café or patisserie, electronics or lifestyle concept store, pharmacy or clinic, salon and wellness, financial or professional services front office — particularly brands seeking a landmark address at the centre of the capital's life.
